

Home News Listings Reviews Features Advice StageTalk Edinburgh Jobs Shop Classifieds
Today Search Features Chit Chat BlogWatch The Stage Awards

I Miss Communism

By:
Ines Wurth and Mark Soper

Management:
Wurth

Run time:
65mins

In an emotionally charged performance, Ines Wurth tells of her childhood in Yugoslavia under Tito, of being in America and of what happened when she tried to return to Croatia by train from Greece during the recent conflict. It is a compelling story which she tells by framing it within songs from the musical film Oliver - a favourite of hers as a child and allowed by the regime because of its anti-capitalist message.

Mark Soper's direction makes for a hugely focussed performance which plays with the different influences on her life, from her mother to communism. Wurth has a naive charm to her, of a kind which could be kooky or cheap but which she makes endearing as she works from moments of high comedy to serious, tear-inducing drama.

★★★★ I MISS COMMUNISM

One people, One state, One army, One Woman Show with INES WURTH

SEARCH LISTINGS

Search...

Only search reviewed productions

Search

PRODUCTIONS & RE

- Theatre
- Comedy/Light Entertainment
- Musicals/Opera
- Dance/Physical Theatre
- Music
- Children's

Thom Dibdin
Aug 24 2005 13:24

WHERE TO SEE I MISS COMMUNISM

A Pleasance Dome
1 Bristo Square EH8 9AL
August 7-14, 16-29

H Hotels I Other venues

Map markers are placed according to postcode and position may be approximate.